

‘When words aren’t enough’
with Catherine Rodger, Jeanette Archer and Jean Day

Thursday 26 April 2018
10.00-16.00

A day of creative ideas for working with adults, teenagers and children. An experiential and fun day, which will encourage you and your work with clients. This will include working with resilience, strengths, body work, tree of life, constellations and buckets! Also an opportunity to share ideas.

Catherine Rodger has an MSC in Family Therapy, London University and is Systemic Supervisor, Institute of Family Therapy. UKCP registered. She is a child and family therapist who works systemically with individuals, couples and families and works to a resilience model.

Jeanette Archer has a Diploma in Integrative Counselling and Certificate in Art Therapy. She counsels adults and couples and has a special interest in working with children and young couples. Jeanette’s special interest is in family counselling.

Jean Day has an Advanced Diploma in Counselling at West Kent College. Certificate in the theory of Family Therapy. As well as working with adults, Jean heads up the children and young peoples’ work at Sevenoaks Counselling. She works with both children and adults.